

Orientation Document

Computer Science Students'
Representative Council

April 2020, Saarbrücken

Preface

The Computer Science Students' Representative Council welcomes a new batch of students every semester, like you, in Bachelors and Masters programs at the Saarland University. We organize orientation events to help freshmen adapt to the university and to guide them through their day to day challenges here.

Unfortunately, due to the pandemic outbreak of COVID-19 and the unforeseen circumstances that have surrounded the very nature of the university functions, we had to dynamically adopt new and appropriate ways to reach out to you. Therefore we present you this orientation document (OD) as a detailed summary of all the information we have shared with the students during our last orientation event (Master StEP).

We advise you to make a thorough study of this OD at least once to have a mental structure of the Saarland University and to keep it as a reference document for the contacts and the weblinks. You can always reach out to us via email, our website and our social media channels if you find anything unclear in the OD.

We hope that everything will be back to the normal order of functioning at the beginning of the Winter Semester 20/21. Therefore you are encouraged to join our next iteration of Master StEP in person and benefit from our organized events. We are looking forward to hearing from you and helping you to the best of our abilities.

Yours faithfully,

Master StEP Team

Introduction to Computer Science Students' Representative Council

The Computer Science Students' Representative Council is a committee of students representing the interests of the student body in different boards and towards other institutions. The council organizes social events and orientation events, provides the free student printer and old exams, organizes job fairs and works continuously to improve study conditions of the students. The council is made up of 15 elected members from various computer science programs and voluntary members from different study programs. All the members of the council help students to the best of their abilities to make their study comfortable and joyful at Saarland University. Students may consult the council on any matter troubling them on the university campus which they do not know who to approach.

Students may follow the council in various ways to keep up to date with the offers and news. The information is distributed both on the website and in various social networks.

Checklist for New Master Students

In general, these are the steps you will have to follow after arriving at Saarbrücken (please carry them in the following order):

Registering at Residents' Registration Office (Bürgeramt) in Saarbrücken

If you will be staying in Germany for more than three months, you (and the members of your family) will need to register at the local Residents' Registration Office within one week after arrival. If you move to new accommodation within Germany, you must register at your new place of residence. You must also deregister your residence status when you leave Germany.

In order to register, you will need to present:

- A valid passport or personal ID document (+visa if applicable)
- Written confirmation (Wohnungsgeberbestätigung) from your landlord or their agent that you will be resident at the specified address
- The lease contract (Mietübergangsvereinbarung)

After registering, you will get your residence certificate (Anmeldebescheinigung) which you will need to open a bank account. Keep the original document and give photocopies when needed, the next documents only issued with additional charge.

About six to eight weeks after registering, you will be sent a letter with your tax identification number (TIN). If you have an employment contract with Saarland University or one of the on-campus research institutes, please communicate your TIN to the university's Human Resources department.

More info: (http://www.saarbruecken.de/rathaus/buergerservice/saarbruecker_buergeraemter)

Opening a Bank Account

You will need a bank account with a German bank in order to pay your bills or to be able to rent a room in a student dormitory. We advise opening a 'Girokonto', which is equivalent to a British current account or an American checking account. Most banks in Saarbrücken offer current accounts, though conditions and prices may vary. For students a current account is usually free of charge.

Documents you'll need to open a bank account:

- A valid passport or personal ID document (+visa if applicable)
- A residence certificate (Anmeldebescheinigung) from the Residents' Registration Office (Bürgeramt) in Saarbrücken
- Certificate of enrolment at Saarland University (Immatrikulationsbescheinigung) (In some cases, admission letter may also be enough)

Important: To open a bank account, you will need to make an appointment at the bank which may be around a week after the application. Within this time, you may complete your online enrolment and get your certificate of enrolment.

Getting a German Health Insurance

You will need to submit proof that you have an adequate health insurance cover while enrolling at the university.

EU nationals

If you are a national of an EU member state and are already in possession of a European Health Insurance Card (EHIC), you will not need to take out additional German health insurance. The EHIC applies to medical and health services within the entire EU region. You need to present your EHIC here in Germany to a public health insurance company (for example AOK, IKK, BARMER GEK) at the welcome centre. After checking your insurance cover the health insurance company will issue the relevant health insurance certificate to present to the university.

Students from outside the EU

Students from countries outside the EU will need to purchase student health insurance cover from a health insurance provider in Germany, unless they are from a state which Germany has signed a Social Insurance Treaty.¹

There is a range of different health insurance companies who charge almost the same amount of monthly contribution (currently around 90,- euros) for master students. The services of the health insurers differ very slightly. The health insurance companies AOK (AOK Rheinland-Pfalz/Saarland), IKK (IKK Südwest), and TK (Techniker Krankenkasse) run offices at Saarbrücken Campus and are among the insurance companies which are known for excellent performance.

TK offers the possibility to prepare a document beforehand as a part of their customer service at the campus. They issue a certificate of health insurance by providing a soft copy, so you can upload it in the online enrollment database. This document is a provisional document, and you will fill in the membership request form after arriving here and opening a bank account. Further information can be found on English website (<https://www.tk.de/tk/english/610312>).

If you choose another insurance company, you can settle everything upon your arrival, they do not offer the possibility to prepare a document beforehand.

Enrolling with Saarland University

The enrolment has to be submitted by upload (for URL see on enrolment form) to the students' office enclosing the documents and evidence stated below. It is essential that you comply with the enrolment period stated in the admission notification. If the enrolment is not completed within this period the admission expires. Enrolment can only take place if all the necessary documents with the enrolment form (signed print out of the online enrolment form) be uploaded within the stated period.

The following documents have to be enclosed scanned to the enrolment form:

- A valid passport or personal ID document (+visa if applicable)
- The official admission letter issued by the Study Coordinator
- Online completed and signed enrolment upload

A guide can be found here (please choose the option without application number):

(https://www.uni-saarland.de/fileadmin/user_upload/global/weltweit/in/guideline_online_enrollment.pdf)

- Photo (passport size) jpg-format with minimum pixels 248 x 330.

¹ The students from states which Germany has signed a Social Insurance Treaty need to present related documents to a public health insurance company at the university. In this case, the health insurance company will issue the relevant health insurance certificate to present to the university (i.e. students from Turkey may apply for the AT11 document in Turkey if they meet the requirements).

- A certified copy of your Bachelor's certificate (English or German version)²
- Payment receipt of the summer semester fee.

The registration fee for the current semester is presented on the semester fee page of the university website (which includes the free use of the public transport). The whole sum is to be transferred or paid in cash to "Saarland University's" account no. 330000 at Bank 1 Saar (sort code: 59190000). Please state your first and last name as well as your date of birth in the reference field. Should you already know your enrolment number please state it to the very left of the first reference line. ("Universität des Saarlandes", IBAN: DE19 5919 0000 0000 33 0000; BIC: SABA DE 5 S) Students in their 5th year have to pay in addition to the semester contribution a fee, from which students for a "doctorate with prior graduation" only are exempt. The enrolment is only effective, when the complete amount of the fees has been paid. The transfer may take a few days due to bank processing time. Please consider bank transfer charge and do raise amount consequently. In case of cash payment, the fee can be paid from any branch (except the one in the campus) of Bank 1 Saar (additional charges may apply).

- A certificate of coverage from your health insurance company
- If you had been registered to another university in Germany, a certificate of your removal from the register of students

Important: When you finish uploading all the required documents, you may go to the "Welcome Center" to ask if your enrolment is complete. Until you have an access to "Isf", Welcome Center may issue a certificate of enrolment (Immatrikulationsbescheinigung).

Getting a Residence Permit

While a visa will allow you to enter Germany and stay for a period of up to 90 days, a temporary residence permit is required if you are planning to stay for longer than three months. If you are not an EU national, you will need to apply to the Foreigners' Registration Office (Ausländerbehörde) for a temporary residence permit. If you have entered Germany from a country, for which no visa was needed, you also have 90 days to request a residence permit.

Ideally, you should arrange an appointment six to eight weeks before your visa expires. To make an appointment with the Foreigners' Registration Office in Saarbrücken, please refer to the contact details provided. Please note: staff at the Foreigners' Registration Office ONLY see visitors by appointment.

Address of Ausländerbehörde:

Lebacherstraße 6
66113 Saarbrücken
Tel.: 0681 / 501-00
e-mail: auslaenderbehoerde@saarbruecken.de

² If the admission has been given by hochschulstart.de or for admission free degree courses:

For German student applicants and those with German entrance qualifications: Higher education access qualification; if applicable, endorsement attesting the recognition (for German applicants with higher education access qualifications from other countries or the former GDR) and if applicable certified German translations (not required if the students' office already has an up-to-date version of the application)

For foreign EU and EEA citizens: Higher education access qualification and the official German translation (not necessary for documents in English).

The Foreigners' Registration Office is located near Ludwigskreisel (behind the Toyota car dealership) – the reception desk is situated on the 2nd floor.

When you are notified about the date and time of your appointment, you will also be given a list of documents that you will need to bring with you. Generally the required documents are:

- A valid passport and visa
- 1 recent passport-size photo (biometric)
- The completed application form (generally provided during the application).

- A copy of your lease contract
- A copy of your confirmation of registration at university ("Immatrikulationsbescheinigung")

- Private dormitories

There are several private dormitories in Saarbrücken, which are not run by the Studentenwerk. These dormitories mostly offer furnished rooms, single or double apartments. To get a place in these dormitories, you need to apply directly with their administration:

While searching a flat in the private housing market, please be aware of dubious methods. Fraudsters mainly use money transfer services, such as Western Union, to obtain security deposits. The card is only valid for the person it is issued to. (There are different types of BahnCards. Some BahnCards are automatically renewed for one year, unless they are cancelled no later than 6 weeks before the renewal date.) - Internet

German laws concerning file-sharing are pretty strict and clearly condemn any kind of file sharing activity related to copyrighted content. While both download and upload are condemned by law, in reality the uploading part of the process will result with a warning letter. Using services like torrent clients makes you automatically share the file you are downloading. This is why torrent and other P2P clients' users receive a lot of letters from German lawyers.

Since April 2017, users of illegal streaming services (also broadcasting of live events) can also get in trouble because of a decision from the European Court of Justice.

Taxes

- GEZ

The GEZ or radiotax is a fee which every household in Germany has to pay. This tax is used to keep the radio and print media in Germany free from political funding, bias and independence. The fee is 17,50€ per month (per household/flat, not per person). You can use this facility to watch TV online. Head to their website to get more information. An exemption or reduction of the fee is possible under certain conditions, eg if you or your roommate is a Bafoeg scholar.

Recycling

Cleanliness is an important part of well being. This is very clear if you look around, how clean and maintained the public places in Saarbrücken, Germany are. Waste segregation is an important part of living in Germany. It enables efficient recycling. Here, waste is more or less divided into 6 categories-

- Gelber Sack - plastic containers, aluminum cans, tetra packs and other packaging material (except paper cartons). These bags are yellow in color and can be collected from burgeramt.
- Biomüll - biodegradable food wastes. These bags are green in color.
- Alt-papier - clean paper paste, newspapers, carton and paper packaging material.
- Glassmüll - Separate your glass waste based on color - Green (red wine bottle, etc), Brown (beer bottles) and White (liquor and food container). Make sure you do not dispose of them with the lids.
- Batteries - Since batteries can be biohazard and toxic, they will contaminate the recycling process if mixed. Inform yourself from your local authorities, neighbors or roommates about the right disposal strategy followed at your place of residence.

- Restmüll - Anything that does not go into the above described categories will go into these black bags. These are materials that cannot be recycled and go into landfills, so use this only as your last option.

Health Insurance and Availing Medical Facilities

Although Germany has a universal healthcare system which covers almost all medical expenses of all its residents and visitors, German healthcare system can be complicated and it is important to understand your way around it.

Your public health insurance covers;

- Hospital treatment
 - Emergency services such as accidents
 - Medical treatment such as outpatient, dental treatment
 - Walking aids or wheelchairs
 - Transportation to the nearest hospital
 - Burial or Repatriation
- Primary Care - Your first step to availing a health service is at a primary care centre of a general physician, aka Hausarzt. A Hausarzt is concerned with all of your primary healthcare needs, internal medicine, common sickness etc. Find your closest Hausarzt praxis via Google and note their phone number for later. IMPRS has compiled a list of English speaking doctors for the convenience of students. They usually have an open door policy.
 - Specialist - A specialist such as an orthopedic, dentist or a psychiatrist can only be visited with a prior appointment. You can find them on Google or call your health insurance provider (number can be found on your insurance card) to assist you with an appointment if needed.
 - Emergencies - Hospitals are usually meant for higher degree of medical care or urgent medical care during holidays and weekends. There are 4 hospitals in Saarbrücken -
 - Caritas Klinikum - Rheinstraße 2, 66113 Saarbrücken
 - Caritas Dudweiler - Klosterstraße 14, 66125 Saarbrücken
 - Klinikum Saarbrücken - Winterberg 1, 66119 Saarbrücken
 - Evangelical City Hospital - Großherzog-Friedrich-Straße 44, 66111 Saarbrücken
 - Pharmacy - There are 3 kinds of prescription slips

Green - Over the counter medicines, like flu, headache, etc. These are not covered by the health insurance and have to be paid by you.

Pink - These are prescription medicines such as antibiotics etc. These slips are valid for 4 weeks and paid by the insurance provider.

Yellow - These include restricted medicines which have to be prescribed only in special cases. These slips are valid for 7 days and also paid for by the insurance provider.

Academics

The informatics related study programs are represented by the Saarland Informatics Campus \(SIC\) including 11 English-language master's programs which are Computer Science, Bioinformatics, Data Science and Artificial Intelligence, Embedded Systems, Entrepreneurial Cybersecurity, Language Science and Technology, Mathematics and Computer Science, Media Informatics, Visual Computing, Business Informatics and Language and Communication Technologies.

All master programs require 120CPs to complete the program within 6 semesters. There is a progress control where students should have;

- After 1 semester at least 9 Credit Points
- After 2 semester at least 30 Credit Points
- After 4 semester at least 60 Credit Points
- After 6 semester at least 90 Credit Points

If students fail progress control, they will get a letter from the university. Two times failure in a row may cause students to lose their claim to finish.

Lectures/Courses

The lectures offered by the campus are divided into three categories:

- Core Lectures
- Advanced Lectures
- Seminars

Core lectures (9CP) are twice a week and advanced lectures (6CP) are once a week with additional tutorial hours if applicable. The lecture materials and scripts are usually available online on the related lecture pages. Seminars are usually once a week (7CP) and attendance to presentations and the kickoff meeting is mandatory. Majority of the lectures do not require any prior registration, but enrollment links for the classes/tutorials are shared on the webpage of the chair offering the course and during the classes. However, the seminars require prior registration on the SIC Seminars system. The system requires students to choose three seminars of their choices, and assigns students to one of their choice considering several criteria.

LSF is the central system where the students can find all the offered lectures, overview their transcript of records, schedule a study plan and register for events (exams, seminars). The student certificate can be found under SIM. Each course may use different lecture systems (dCMS, RCMS, Cisca CMS, Moodle, Vipa, SZSB Courses-system).

Students may get additional credit points by attending the lectures not listed on their study program, if they get the acceptance of the head of their study program and the related examination office.

Exams

Majority of the lectures require participants to take exams to get a final grade. The exams are offered oral or written and the admission to exams require to meet some criteria selected by the instructors (assignment sheets, tutorial attendance, tests). It is mandatory to register for the exams on the LSF system with a valid iTAN number. The system allows students to register and unregister until 1 week before the actual exam date. The lectures offer an end term exam and a re-exam every semester. If the students participate in both, the better grade counts. Some of the lectures may require additional midterm exams. The university allows students 3 attempts to write an exam, registration to the LSF system is mandatory for each attempt. Passing grade for the exams is 4.0 and the scale is between 1.0(the best grade) and 5.0 (the worst grade) (in x.0, x.3, x.7). Some lectures (seminars, language courses) offer a "Schein" which cannot be directly transferred as grade on the central lecture system, so the student must go to the examination office and provide their certificate to transfer their final grade to the central lecture system.

For further information, students may check the study and examination regulation of their relevant study program here.

Master Thesis

The Master of Science at the Saarland University requires every student to display their appetite for research and successful applications of lessons learnt in their courses. This is evaluated in the form of a scientific report on a project that has been carried out under supervision. It is intended to show that the candidate is able to solve a computer science problem according to scientific methods and to present the results clearly. The thesis can be written in English or German. The problem statement for the Master Thesis should be deemed appropriate for the workload of a 6 months working period and is evaluated for 30 CPs.

Since the problem statement in the thesis is a semester-long (sometimes longer) commitment, and a chance to show your skill almost unrestricted because of rigid course structures, it is only appropriate that the student chooses the topic in their field of interest. An appropriate way to do this is to build your knowledge base by taking core courses offered by different departments. This can be followed by taking advanced courses in the field of your interest, building upon the knowledge of course courses. This will help you understand the depths and intricacies of your favorite field and funnel your focus. Upon identification of a particular field of research interest, students should choose to attend seminars offered by the appropriate department. This will help you familiarize with the latest research in this topic. Talking to the faculty and fellow researchers of the department and understanding their latest research topics will help you with the cause as well. These progressive steps will help you establish a good understanding with your research topic, fellow researchers, supervisors and professor.

This is only a tentative approach to obtaining a master thesis problem statement. Students are free to experiment and figure out what works for them. If the student is unable to find a problem statement by himself, they should approach the department for the same.

Some Master Programs also require students to perform a Master Seminar where they would present the literature survey, analysis of the problem and theoretical solution before implementation and writing of the thesis.

For further information, students may check the thesis submission requirements of their relevant study program on the MINT system.

Erasmus

The Erasmus Exchange Program covers all partnerships with universities in EU countries. The individual partnerships are coordinated through the departments and the International Office. In the framework of the Erasmus/Socrates Program, students have the opportunity to study at a partner university abroad. The current list of partners can be obtained in the study coordination office.

For further information, students shall contact the Erasmus office.
